

I have had XM Radio in my pickup truck for the past 2 years. I listen to broadcast radio, but I also listen to XM. I equate it to Cable TV. I watch "Cable Stations", the ones other than the 5 or 6 networks, but most of my viewing is done on the networks. I pay for XM. I feel it is my right to listen to it and for XM not to be limited in any way from providing a service that I'm paying for. How is it any different from Cable TV? Let the Broadcast stations compete on a free market. Sometimes I get tired of all the repetitive commercials. I respectfully request you to reject NAB's petition 04-160
